

Bill

To n walk good buddy.

I have fun this summer at the fair. Good luck in everything you do. Best wishes "Interact" Dick.

The very best always, Bill, to a wonderful guy. Seeing you in History, Singin' Grant's homeroom, and in English class (you're too quiet and boshful in there) has been loads of fun.

Always stay as sharp as you are now, you're really great!

Bill, Love ya!

It's really been a great being in geometry with you - A student! Bert of luck in everything you do!

Shannon Down

1 Bear -

How's your 'tac'? I want a 'Sun' for my car. It's really been great knowing you these many years. So many crazy things have happened, since I first met that pudgy little preacher's son. You have the craziest sense of humor, and that smile has really kept me happy.

Don't forget the fun we've had, because I could never forget you. Stay Sweet!

Caroline

MAD,
65,

Bill,

I really enjoyed getting to know you better. I've especially enjoyed the many hours I've spent at the library doing your junior thesis. You're really a wonderful boy - even if you are a little crazy.

Stay sweet and as friendly as you are.

Bill,
 I remember when Donald used to talk about you and I couldn't figure out who you were. I don't think I really have ever met you officially but I guess we know each other a little better than not at all.
 Maybe this summer or next year we can get to know each other better.
 Good luck.

Dear Bill
 your sweet nature
 makes me

1964 BOONE LEGEND

WILLIAM R. BOONE HIGH SCHOOL

ORLANDO, FLORIDA

Bill, As long as I live, I'll never forget the wonderful times we had that summer - you're the world's greatest pizza maker!! You are one of the most outstanding people in the school (just ask around) and I know with all your many good qualities, everything you ever want will come your way. Hope I'll still 'your favourite woman' - remember that???

Bill —

It sure has been great knowing you these past 2 years at Boone. I hope of friendship will last for a long time and that maybe you will be able to play football next year. Best of luck always in the future years.

Richard Alt

VOLUME XII

Dear Bill,

Just think — next year you will be an influential senior and I'll be gone. No one to meet you at the door in the morning — no one left for you to make fun of and laugh at. Oh isn't it sad!

Seriously Bill, I'm going to miss being a part of the Boone family and I'm going to miss people like you who make coming to school worth while. You have one of the most promising personalities I've seen — and with your intellectual ability I'm sure you'll go far.

Rest of luck always!
(Love secret girl friend)
Mary Cass 6/4

Bill,

I've enjoyed knowing you these few years in 2 reasons. The first is that you & I was with each other in a church youth group. The second is that you & I were in the same class in high school.

Yours
Gusman

In ancient Britain a boy named Arthur, who was thought to be an orphan, drew out a sword cast in a stone that bore this inscription: "Whoso pulleth out this sword of this stone and anvil is rightwise king born of all England." With this act, he became the central figure of one of mankind's greatest legends.

But to some, there still remains the question: Are the stories of King Arthur and his knights true? These accounts were included in Geoffrey of Monmouth's eleventh-century work, A History of the Kings of Britain, which has been the source of a long series of books and epic poems. It can be honestly said, however, that the stories and legends about King Arthur become real to those who allow it.

The legend of King Arthur, true or otherwise, forms a striking parallel with much of our lives today. Our ideals and way of life are echos of that previous age. This relationship between the past and present has been chosen for the theme of the 1964 Boone Legend.

Handwritten notes in the top right corner, including the word "Darned" and other illegible scribbles.

Bill. This has been a hell raising year. We have had some good times and maybe this summer and the year to follow we can have many more. Best of Luck Always and may you and Esther get along forever. God Bless you Always.

fun this year and next year
we'll be Big Benois. Remember a long time ago when you Nicki, Steve, and I were over at my house watching television. Remember the turtle out in front of Nicki's house. I'm glad that you

all moved here from

Bill,
It's really been a privilege being one of your friends. You have all of the qualities to succeed in life, use them to the best of your ability (I am sure that you will). We've had a lot of fun together and sometimes I wish I was with you and Esther. I wish nothing but the best for you and hope you have a great year. Love it.

Dedicated Administrators Guide Faculty, Students

Organization, operation, and curriculum-planning are guided by a capable, alert, interested administration. The principals, deans, curriculum advisers, and assistants, pool their training and experience to effect the skillful coordination of faculty, students, and physical facilities for which Boone is locally and nationally famous. These dedicated supervisors concern themselves with every facet of the students' welfare, guiding them to find maturity within the school environment and, ultimately, to achieve enriched lives as they assume their appointed roles of world citizenship.

ENGLISH

Develops Understanding of Literature, Grammar

Few realize the contributions of different cultures to the English language. The original inhabitants of ancient Britain, the Celts, contributed very little; the Roman legions under Caesar introduced the first organized language; but to the Anglo-Saxons are we indebted for the many thousands of words still in use. In 1066, the Norman Conquest ushered in another influence, and French remained the official language of England for 500 years.

At Boone, the program of the three years of required English courses has been well-planned. Sophomores continue building on the edifice of earlier study through a thorough drill on grammatical construction. They develop an understanding of literature by reviewing the novel, particularly Silas Marner. Meanwhile, oral skills are polished by means of such devices as forums, panels, debates, and extemporaneous speaking.

Précis writing, essays, and book reviews shape the structure for juniors to utilize skills in style and grammar. They delve into the psychological aspects of literature, and better comprehend contemporary affairs by a concentrated approach to American literary works. The importance of research is discovered through the discipline of the required term paper.

Seniors specialize in a survey of English literature. A departmental treat is a four-part movie on the 19th-century novel, narrated by Clifton Fadiman. A unit of similar appeal deals with the challenging activity of dramatizing and interpreting Shakespearean plays. Nor are the foundations of the language overlooked as seniors critically evaluate the components of contributing tongues. These absorbing intellectual pursuits are climaxed by a final term paper—the springboard, no doubt, to future educational growth.

SCIENCE

Intensive Curriculum Builds Interests, Abilities

Few realize that science is systematized knowledge distilled from the discovery or understanding of truth. Recent developments have placed on biological sciences an increased emphasis. Such problems as containers and content of "space food" are on the fringe of consciousness of biology students studying the relationship of living things, the development of life, and the wide variety of organisms composing the living world.

Biological Sciences Curriculum Study (BSCS) stresses study in depth by investigation and inquiry. Problems of heredity and variation are considered—not merely as theories or conclusions, but as concepts referring to observation and experimentation.

Properties and combinations of elements are discovered by students of Chemistry I and II. Although Chem Study is primarily concerned with mathematical and statistical computations, few laboratory experiments are conducted. Physics curriculum involves study of wave motion, essence of light, and movement of particles.

Possibly most interesting is an independent project by three students, conducted under the guidance of the State Agriculture Department, Orange Memorial Hospital, Dr. J. H. Gainer, and Mr. James Evans, instructor. These young scientists purchased and built their own equipment. Starting with two small mice in October, 1,000 "lab" hours later resulted in 50 specimen from which to extract interferon, an anti-viral protein.

Applied and made efficient by skill, science becomes an art . . . a goal not unattainable at Boone.

MATHEMATICS

Sharpens Senses, Helps Satisfy Academic Needs

Boone's mathematics program is generally considered to be the most extensive in Orange County. Subjects encompass the interests of not only highly mathematically-inclined students planning a professional career, but of those intent on entering the business world. Beginning with practical math and business arithmetic, primarily concerned with record-keeping, balancing books, drawing checks, and similar financial operations, the program culminates with college calculus—the science of change and motion.

On varying levels between these extremes are significant rungs on the ladder of mathematics. Algebra I and II are subjects involving symbols and their myriad combinations in accordance with the laws of pure logic. Conventional plane geometry based on Euclidean theory investigates relations and properties of surfaces, lines and angles. MSG geometry guides students through concepts foreign to the traditional curriculum. Single semester subjects are solid geometry, an extension of principles learned in plane geometry; and trigonometry, the study of relationships existing among sides and angles of triangles, and functions of arcs and angles. Available to students desiring advance placement in institutions of higher learning is special senior math, a college introductory course.

Education based on logical reasoning is regarded as the finest academic preparation possible. Students, whose senses are sharpened by math courses, acquire the art of thinking, so that they may judge and feel ever confident in the soundness of their decisions.

ENGROSSED in using collapsible triangle to solve difficult plane geometry problem are Janice Carter and Larry Bagwell.

PUPILS of math world confront Bill King, attempting to illustrate geometric theorem. Directed by Mrs. Virginia Brown.

students are encouraged to use chalkboard for visual presentation and an enlarged compass provides an indispensable tool.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Encourage Friendly Relations With Foreign Nations

Man by nature is a social being. It follows that fundamental relationships exist between individuals, states and nations. The Social Studies curriculum is directed toward assisting students to understand themselves in relationship to their neighbors. This demands an unbiased concept of history—past, present, and future.

Courses in American History, Americanism v. Communism and Problems of American Democracy, provide a 3-dimensional view of the founding of our democratic form of government, the social and economic problems plaguing it today, and the ideological forces threatening its ultimate destruction.

Special History offers selected students the opportunity of studying government, economics, and advanced American History. A concept of the physical characteristics of the earth and its peoples is gained from a study of World History or World Geography. Many pupils choose psychology, a subject examining the behavioral patterns of man and the tremendous forces of heredity and environment.

Inter-dependence of course offerings significantly indicates the intimate relationship existing between national and international forces, and powerful pressures which must be intelligently resolved to insure the survival of mankind.

STUDENTS, Ronnie Peters and Mary Olive, delve into mystery of brain, explaining sectional structure to psychology class.

PICTURES of Russia are critically examined by Ronnie Vascik and Sara Miller, students of World History under Miss Yancev.

UNDER the instruction of Mrs. Nohie Simpson, advanced Latin students find class discussion groups conducive to learning

LANGUAGE

Forms Lasting Basis For Universal Understanding

Communication—vital bridge linking civilization—forms the basis of language study. Because of Boone's awareness of the need for exchange of knowledge through the spoken word and literature, the Language Department is a major academic division offering four languages for student election.

Latin, the mother-tongue of Western civilization, is the root from which stems the Romance languages. Scholars discover in Latin several fundamental components basic to adequate comprehension and study of English: rhetoric, phonics, and grammar. In addition, the fascinating literature of Rome is expounded for further enjoyment and intellectual enrichment.

French and Spanish, derivatives of Latin, share the distinction of being the most useful "second" language to many students. Unquestioned are the advantages of being able to communicate with others in their native tongue and to possess some knowledge of their culture. Of similar importance are grammatical correctness and effective pronunciation. These skills are developed in classroom situations emphasizing the functional approach to language. German, a Teutonic tongue, is available to students desiring to specialize in scientific, medical, or allied fields.

So the bridge is built—comprehending another's language and learning to think in that language—an essential step toward deeper understanding and tolerance of other cultural patterns. As students become better world citizens, the departmental goal shall be realized.

BUSINESS EDUCATION

Provides Opportunity For Profitable Vocation

Preparing candidates for the business world, Boone provides a diversified program of commercial education. Future business workers learn that good study and work habits under competent guidance result in proficiency demanded by a competitive world.

Through foundation courses in Business English and Business Arithmetic, students acquire essential skills. Other pupils probe the mysteries of Shorthand I and II to become adept in the use of abbreviated language. At least a "B" average is required to be eligible for membership to Gregg Writers, a national honor society of business students.

Speed and accuracy are instilled in students in Typing I and are indispensable in Typing II. Through such courses, students learn not only the forms used in business transactions, but also correct techniques for improving themes and writing social letters. Additional tools of effective communication are acquired through knowledge of commercial forms, editing, and abstracting. Drill in mathematical tables, slide-rule, and computation methods facilitate the solving of common business problems.

Pupils enrolled in Secretarial Office Practice build efficiency in use of comptometer, duplicator, addressograph, and other time-and work-saving devices, while mastery of record-keeping technique becomes second nature in bookkeeping. Students discover the world of ledgers to be no longer an unknown quantity, but rather a challenging actuality, affirmed by thousands of graduates gainfully employed and experiencing personal satisfaction in productive careers.

PRACTICAL ARTS

Stresses the Importance Of On-the-Job Training

Developing worthwhile skills, Practical Arts stress the importance of on-the-job training. Future homemakers acquire abilities basic to their vocation of managing a home. They learn to plan, prepare, and serve nourishing meals. Instructed in the wise selection of material and the proper cutting and sewing of garments, they produce well-tailored articles.

A combined course for boys and girls is Modern Family Living. The establishing of a happy and healthy family life is explored through discussion of such topics as choosing, financing, and planning a home, and the relationship of parents and children to each other and to the community.

Under the tutelage of Mr. Newton Williams, students find Auto Mechanics to be an extremely profitable course. They study the operation of motors, and are provided with an opportunity to apply their knowledge to engines of all makes. Another popular study is Agriculture, expertly taught by Mr. Robert Ford, which includes instruction in modern farming methods and animal husbandry. Future farmers apply their learning experience to tending orange groves, beautifying the campus, preparing soil, operating tractors, and crop-planting.

Although apparently unrelated, these subjects have a common bond: All are basic to daily living and contribute to a comfortable existence.

PUTTING into effect theory learned in classroom Auto Mechanics, Dwight Hellenschmidt carefully assembles engine parts

LIBRARY, STUDY HALL

Contribute to Scholastic Progress and Knowledge

Students find library and study hall an essential part of daily curriculum at Boone. Many available magazines arouse curiosity and stimulate the desire to explore fascinating material. Magazines provide a show-place of human behavior, particularly for students interested in psychology. English students discover book reviews in periodicals helpful in preparing assigned reports. History-minded individuals keep up to date with current affairs with information from back issues. Research students seek references in the Readers' Guide before consulting trained librarians for assistance.

Sophomore orientation during September includes familiarizing students with library. Juniors and seniors working on themes locate statistics and required material by searching the card catalogue for related information. An adequate career file may be consulted by those seeking specific vocational data, while college-bound students have brochures describing institutions of higher education.

The quiet, orderly atmosphere of study hall prompts students' incentive to work—by brushing up on English grammar, analyzing chemistry experiments, finishing complicated math problems, and concentrating on review material. Students realize that facilities of library and study hall contribute an integral part to campus life, aiding scholastic progress and cultural enrichment.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Establishes Coordination And Physical Alertness

Possibly President Kennedy, more than any other public figure, recognized the necessity of physical fitness as being America's primary resource. It was his emphasis on the physical well-being of all citizens, particularly its youth, that revitalized the nation's health program. Although Boone's students are not required to engage in the 50-mile hikes which mushroomed into popularity, they are required to know and practice the fundamentals of wholesome living. Individual sports, intramural, and inter-murals, not only afford practice of physical skills, but also stimulate mental alertness, physical competence, and fraternal compatibility.

Specifically, Boone's pupils engage in a multitude of activities which require more than skill. Boys enjoy a diversified program of baseball, basketball, football, and track, demanding teamwork and sportsmanship. Girls find the same traits essential to games of volleyball, softball, and kickball. Square-dancing occupies many pleasurable periods of combined boys' and girls' classes. It is not surprising that this well-organized, well-instructed, and well-coordinated activity rates top popularity in Boone's curriculum year after year.

FINE ARTS

Train Students To Meet Challenges Confidently

"Beauty is in the eye of the beholder." And how much loveliness may pass unnoticed because the observer is blind to the beauty and grace of everyday objects and commonplace scenes?

While enriching their appreciation of beauty, Boone's art students, under the direction of Mrs. Joan Bryant, explore various art fields which may serve as springboards to future vocations. Mosaics, color harmonies, picture composition and design, perspective, a survey of the world's masters and their works are included in the study of art's many facets.

In the Speech Department, Miss Faye Johns' students discover that "practice makes perfect." Learning the proper techniques for public speaking, debating, and reviewing exercises in approved social behavior is a valuable part of the speech program. Meanwhile, worthy accomplishments are the results in two other classes of the Fine Arts Department, Band and Chorus, under the guidance of Mr. Mark Casey and Mr. Norbert Kraemer, respectively. Patience and persistence are gained in band practice, as that final chord is realized after hours of "from the top," and in chorus rehearsal when "try it once again" results in the achievement of the exact tonal effect.

In Fine Arts, talents and skills are cultivated and students mature into young adults, prepared to meet tomorrow's challenges with skill and confidence; people imbued with a desire to share the beauty of "everyday objects and commonplace scenes."

Climax Year With "Amahl And the Night Visitors"

Gian-Carlo Menotti, heretofore merely a name to Boone's students, assumed a meaningful significance when the choruses presented, for their Christmas program, his world-renowned opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors," to an enraptured audience. The principal soloists gave professional performances of a quality rarely achieved by high-school vocalists, as they portrayed the tender story of the fatherless cripple's encounter with the Magi. The portrayal of the Wisemen, and the splendid piano accompaniment, contributed further to making this presentation unique and memorable in musical history.

The painstaking efforts of Mr. Norbert Kraemer, in his emphasis on proper techniques of breathing, posture, vocal control, and diction, found recognition in the success of his pupils at competitive events. Endless hours of practice were rewarded by Boone's outstanding participation in the district auditions held at Deland in January, and at the Florida Vocal Association's annual meeting at Daytona Beach, where Kathy Malloy was chosen as one of five pianists to work with the concert choir.

The year's events culminated with the sprightly and heartily Very Spring Musical, featuring one of the most youthful and gayest of Broadway's productions

BAND

Performance Brings Honor to School and Community

"Line up at the goal post; we'll take it from there!"

These were familiar sounds to hard-working band students as they practiced endless hours in preparation for participation in football games, parades, and concert performances. The "marching Braves" displayed their perfect synchronization, unique arrangement, and flawless technique in the municipal Christmas celebration and Cerebral Palsy parade, and the District contest in Sanford.

When marching season ended, an equal number of hours were spent in diligent practice by the concert members. Highlights of the season consisted of attendance at the District competition at Daytona, and proudly presenting the Spring Musicales in Eola Park, sponsored by the Orlando Chamber of Commerce. Additional honors for outstanding band students were earned by their being selected to participate in the All-City band.

Apart from their usual course responsibilities, band students boosted the fund for the purchase of new uniforms through the sale of candy, fruitcake, and stationery. Worthwhile as were these activities, they were unexceeded by the satisfaction and enjoyment experienced in working together.

LOOKING-ON to lend helping hand is Mr. Mark Casey, during an extra noontime rehearsal of Bill Lippmann and Bruce Hill.

MAJORETTES

Lucky Thirteen Twirlers Reign as State Champs

Comprising Boone's majorette corps, thirteen talented girls preceded the band during football's pre-game and half-time festivities. In the annual Christmas parade, preceding the holidays, they marched in the coveted position just before Santa. Although their superbly-synchronized twirling abilities were widely applauded, they were most enthusiastically received at home, by faculty and students at pep-fests in the gym.

For untold hours, the "lucky thirteen" practiced to achieve the split-second form and precision for which they are renowned. To assist in perfecting routines, an instructor from the Twirling Association imparted valuable criticism, and created formations to achieve even more startling effects.

As in previous years, the strikingly-costumed girls portrayed tremendous spirit in both state and regional competition. At Sanford, their technique rated first, bringing deserved honor to themselves, their sponsor, Mrs. Elaine Gamble, and Boone.

DRIVER EDUCATION

Teaches Safe, Intelligent Car-Handling to Drivers

Today's billion-dollar road construction program, accelerated by sky-rocketing production of vehicles, has far surpassed legal requirements for providing safe, skilled, automobile operators. Florida, one of the pioneers in realizing this need, provides Drivers' Education training, directed toward preparing new drivers to cope with the increasing and frightening hazards of automobile operation.

Students begin the nine weeks' course of instruction in a classroom, perusing maps, poring over books, observing movies, and learning the mechanical features of cars. Of equal importance is a concentrated study of State driving regulations, accompanied by practice with the reaction-timer. Having first secured a learner's license, the novice now gains experience and practice in his newly-acquired skills, operating the dual-control car under the expert and patient instruction of Mr. Leonard G. Stith and Mr. John A. Hull.

The successful completion of a properly-supervised Drivers' Education exercise is psychologically advantageous. Students acquire an awareness of their civic responsibility in operating a vehicle, and possess a higher degree of self-confidence as a result of proved mastery of fundamental details. Lastly, monetary compensation in the form of premium insurance rates is available to graduates of the course of instruction.

OFFICE ASSISTANTS save administrative personnel valuable time and effort. Besides assisting the registrar, Miss Evelyn McEntire, they facilitate the preparation of reports and perform other routine clerical duties of inestimable assistance.

ASSISTANTS

Perform Clerical Duties in Building Responsibility

ASSISTANTS, Junet Baker and Marlene Mueller, willingly aid the head of the Junior English department, Mrs. Ophelia Irwin

An important message to a student in class, a polite voice answering the office phone, a warm greeting, and an offer to aid visitors to the office: all these are manifestations of the services of office assistants. Assuming a number of duties, assistants gain valuable experience applicable to future vocations and perfect various clerical skills.

Teachers are grateful for student aid with time consuming details. Taking roll, inspecting notebooks, recording homework, and mimeographing tests are willingly and competently performed by students.

On the other hand, assistants are made aware of the extent of teacher responsibility. Mutual appreciation between students and teachers results in a harmonious working relationship, and students develop worthwhile abilities. While aides acquire a sense of pride in doing a job—and doing it well—they are building the “know-how” expected of applicants for desirable positions in the business world.

HI LIGHTS

Serves as Communiqué for Informed Student Body

Journalism and the responsibility of publishing a newspaper require more than full-time class participation. Classroom hours are supplemented by long work periods, extending far beyond the normal course requirements.

Emphasizing old-fashioned hard work and proper use of talent, Mr. W. Cochenour directs the business and editorial staffs, producing a bi-monthly periodical of school events, representative of superior effort in journalistic media.

Hi Lights furnishes editorials and columns of public interest. Feature items, such as "Duke's Decompression Chamber" for the sports-conscious, "Hide 'N Seek" for campus gossip, and "Kelley's Korner" for fad addicts, complete the format.

Two basic jobs occupy the business staff: Advertising—not only of service to the community, but providing desirable revenue; Circulation—exchanging readers' enjoyment for pennies used to defray operating costs.

Staff members are recipients of immeasurable benefits. Many will decide to continue the satisfying work already begun by entering journalistic careers.

YEARBOOK

Exhibits High Standards Of Technical Perfection

More than a record of one year's events, a yearbook is the product of fancy, reflection, and genuinely hard work. It represents faculty and students working together in unity of purpose. It expresses Youth—in its pride, its failures, and notably, its accomplishments.

In keeping with these ideas, "another Triple Crown" was the watchword of the 1964 Boone Legend. Both business and editorial staffs worked tirelessly: the former to finance the book, the latter to create. Skills expected of journalism students—academic proficiency, art or photography "know-how," some concept of layout and typography—were developed as the year progressed, as were desirable character traits of responsibility, self-discipline, and the ability to profit from criticism. The image of Boone was well projected, as staff members worked harmoniously with administration, faculty, community, and peer groups alike.

Capably advised by sponsors, Mrs. Mary Ruddy and Mr. Clarence Carlson, the staff endeavored to create a book worthy to bear the illustrious title: Boone Legend. In so doing, it discovered work to be the most satisfying means of becoming better students and happier citizens.

BULLDOGGING Doug Bird and John Batten, holding a tight rein, drag an Eagle ball-carrier to the turf, short of first down

Supported by a sturdy defense and spurred by a rugged offense, the 1963 Boone Braves blanked seven rivals to hold regular-season opponents to 32 hard-won points. In addition, Boone's Doug Bird was the first Brave to be chosen to the 1st-string All-State team.

Opening the season, Boone's defense subdued a confident Cocoa and Winter Park team. In the attack against Melbourne, the offense clicked, enabling the Braves to corral a 26-0 triumph. A win against Colonial, combined with a rout over the Evans Trojans, strengthened the Varsity's grip on the Metro lead. Accompanied by eight busloads of cheering Braves, the team next tackled the regional champion, Gainesville, but returned home with a scoreless tie. Boone was then handed its first loss from an alert Ocala team, which initiated a fourth-period spurt and resulted in a 1-point victory. In the game against Sarasota, the outcome was reversed, when the Braves scored four explosive tallies to win in the action-packed second half.

In the closing seconds against Mainland, the Braves were repulsed by a dogged Daytona team. This loss was "sweetened" somewhat by a decisive win over cross-town rival, Edgewater. In the classic Thanksgiving Eve encounter, the Eagles received a battering defeat, and the undisputed Metro Conference champions earned the coveted invitation to a post-season bowl game against Winter Haven. Under head coach Tom Bolen, assisted by line coach Paul Adams, and backfield coach Jim Heise, the marauding Braves out-manuevered but could not out-score the powerful Blue Devils, thus ending the year with a satisfying 7-3-1 record.

Young Braves Romp to Victorious Season

LOWERING HEAD into threatening Eagle, halfback Robert Lynch rams way upfield after receiving superb blocking at line

Boone's outstanding Junior Varsity season of four wins and one loss may be attributed to the shrewd and capable leadership of Coaches John Hull and Jack Duncan, and to the hard play and determination of the Braves' team, both in game competition and in practice scrimmages against the Varsity

The Junior Varsity began its victory drive by overwhelming Bishop Moore. Combining a fine offense with a stubborn defense, Boone easily defeated the helpless Hornets, 27-0. Moving next to Winter Park, the Young Braves' high-powered offense continued to roll, scoring 26 points to a lone touchdown by the tamed Wildcats. Undefeated Colonial ventured next to the Braves' reservation, to return home vanquished when the Junior Varsity crossed their goal for four touchdowns and three extra points. While playing under lights against Evans, the baby Braves battled the Trojans to a scoreless first half. On returning in the second half, however, the aroused JV's went "on the warpath" to score 20 points for their fourth straight victory. In their season's final against Edgewater, the Braves' defense was almost flawless, giving up only 6 points. Boone's offense could not surpass the rival's attack, and the Eagles' single touchdown spelled defeat for the disappointed Junior Varsity

By holding opponents to a season low of 13 points, the Junior Varsity extended its record of winning football to eight consecutive years. Several experienced players are assured of promotion to the Varsity squad

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Cagers Tromp District Foes, Lose Regionals

Unleashing a well-polished fast break against relentless odds in the Group VI, Class AA tournament, Boone achieved their third consecutive group championship. As in previous seasons, the cagers' peak was not attained until the latter part of the schedule.

Boone's regular season was mediocre with 10 wins and 12 losses. Nevertheless, the cagers managed to achieve a 9-5 Conference slate, placing them second in the recently-organized Metro Conference. Non-league squads jinxed the team, who were only able to capture one of eight tilts against their opponents.

With three squad members soaring to double figures per game, the average team score hovered around sixty-two points. Undoubtedly, the high points of the season were the defeat of their traditional rival, Edgewater, and the surprising final, in which the heavily-favored Evans' Trojans were decisively upset for the group championship.

The season ended on an up-note with Dick Wellon being chosen to the second-string All-County team, and Mike Schmidt receiving honorable mention.

Driving Offense and Determination Prove Effective

Expert ball-handling failed to compensate for the lack of height in the untried JV squad. Despite this major handicap, the scrappy young Braves managed to post a record of eight victories and thirteen losses for the season. This did not represent the best of seasons; hardly was it the worst. Spirit ran high in the hearts of loyal fans, and the squad developed the necessary experience and skill.

Coach John Hull used a driving offense, supported by close-knit defensive play, to bewilder opposing teams. Although competitors found this strategy extremely effective, they managed to out-jump the Baby Braves in crucial moments at the backboards. Hard practice sessions, tested by rugged competition, whipped the squad into peak condition, and the JV's terminated the season with a gratifying surprise victory over a powerful Sanford quintet.

CROSS COUNTRY

Inexperienced Harriers Runners-Up in Metro

Lacking in experience and team size, the Braves fought their way through a disappointing and shortened season. Competing in only seven encounters, the runners could manage to snatch but one contest, and this only through the superb effort of each individual member of the Braves' team.

After a tough conditioning period, the harriers began the season against one of the top-ranking Florida teams. By taking a fifth position, Danny France prevented the Colonial Grenadiers from achieving a perfect score. Next, an over-confident, experienced Winter Park squad came to the Braves' two-mile course to find their competition in top form. Four Boone racers paced their best time, contributing considerably to capturing a narrow 1-point victory over the surprised Wildcats. Traveling to the Melbourne Bulldogs' invitational, the Braves were able only to obtain fifth place.

Merrill Moore of Gainesville broke the standard with a 10.06 at the Boone invitational, as the host school finished fifth among eleven contenders. Following this meet, Boone lost a close duel to the improving Lakeland Dreadnaughts. Competing in the first Metro Conference engagement, the team nipped the Winter Parkers to take second place. This upset was accomplished by the spectacular come-through effort of Boone's implacable and undauntable warriors.

BASEBALL

Team Spirit Kept High; Strong Season Predicted

On the diamond, the 1963 Varsity Baseball squad was met by an onslaught of more powerful opponents. Despite excellent teamwork, the Braves could never get started on the field, squeezing out only five victories from a total of nineteen encounters. This record, combined with a 5-7 Conference slate, produced a rather discouraging season. Although Kenny Weitzel had the impressive batting average of .422, his hits were insufficient to put the team in the winner's column.

Bishop Moore and Oak Ridge suffered four of the five defeats handed out by the Braves, and Conference title-holder, Winter Park, felt the impact of Boone's other victory. Shut out by only Gainesville and Ocala, the team never allowed its spirit to flag. Although score-wise Boone's season tally was disappointing, the squad displayed enviable qualities of perseverance, sportsmanship, and initiative.

Expressing optimism for the coming year, Coach James Heise predicted a winning combination of stronger, more experienced ball-players in '64.

BOWLING

Keglers "Scalp" Foes Procure Highest Honor

An ancient Egyptian sport, bowling is Boone's newest activity and one of the most eventful of the year.

Finishing its first successful season, the bowling team proved to be a rugged opponent to all comers. Orlando's Bowling Center provided the home lanes for the keggers, although they ventured as far as Sanford to take "scalps." Both boys' and girls' teams competed in the league and usually returned with top honors. George Sullins rolled the highest individual average for the boys, while Karen Diel performed for the girls.

Sponsored by the school principal, Mr. Charles Terry, competition included matches with members of the Interscholastic Bowling League composed of 10 teams including Oviedo, Apopka, Sanford, and Lyman, and provided a challenging schedule for Boone. The success enjoyed by the keggers has whetted their ambition to try to duplicate this year's outstanding record in '65.

RIFLE TEAM

Expert Marksmen Gain Worthy Rank in League

Weekly on Monday afternoons, the Rifle Team departed for the range to train under the skillful supervision of Mr. Ralph Naleway. Generally, the outdoor range beyond the city limits was their destination, although the indoor shooting range at Fern Creek was frequently sought to practice specific drills. The early part of the year was spent competing in the Florida State Junior Rifle League. This comprised events held locally, and in Ocala, Daytona, Clearwater, and St. Petersburg. Cumulative totals placed Boone second in Class "B" and third in Class "C" competition.

In the Orlando National Rifle Association sectional 50-foot meet, the team ranked fifth. Results were forwarded—with scores from similar sectional meets held throughout the United States—to Washington for comparison and analyzation to determine national ratings.

To round out an exciting year of achievement and enjoyment, the team traveled to Sarasota in May for the final competition. This regional 50-foot outdoor match provided a fitting climax to a profitable and eventful season for Boone's marksmen.

TRACK

Mile Relay Tracksters Victorious in Local Meets

GAINING MOMENTUM. R. Strang, half-mile relay anchor man, surges ahead toward finish line and first-place blue ribbon

Two school records were broken during the 1963 track season, as the Braves, strengthened by an exceptional half-mile and mile-relay, sprinted through the roughest thirteen meets that Coach Roger Thomas ever scheduled. Relying on the stamina and fortitude of the distance men, and the superior depth of the sprinters, the tracksters maintained a high berth in state-wide meets and a runner-up position in local engagements. Charles Gano cracked the half-mile mark, the school's oldest record, by finishing fourth in the State meet with a 2:00.4. Bob Summers easily shattered the other standard, the shot put, with a 50-8½.

In February, the track team began a long, difficult struggle. Although the Braves-Cats Open Meet proved a promising start with the Fighting Braves winning the trophy, a string of 32 straight duel wins was broken a week later by a fired-up Winter Park squad.

After placing second to the same Wildcats in a local quadrangular meet, the Braves regained their winning form by topping Lake Wales in a lop-sided duel. A 3rd place in the Stetson Relays, and a 2nd position in the Winter Park Relays preceded the year's final victory against the Colonial Grenadiers.

In the five major meets, the tracksters placed second in the County and the Conference meets; third in the Boone Invitation and District meet; and 14th in the State meet, before receiving an invitation to the Sunshine State Invitational, which ended an exciting and successful season.

Rough Competition Improves Style, Increases Speed

Florida is recognized by two status symbols: its citrus industry and swimmers basking on sunny beaches. Boone shares in developing this healthful sport by providing students with the opportunity to participate in swimming and diving events as members of the Swimming Team. Beginning in October, bi-weekly practices were held at the pool on Old Winter Garden Road under direction of Mr. Stephen Beckner. In March, this rigorous training was continued at Fern Creek Pool, under supervision of Coach Tommy Bolen preparing his teams for the opener.

The boys' and girls' teams competed against County AA high schools, and in the group meet including Mainland, Ocala, Gainesville, and the county schools. Both groups turned in exceedingly splendid records in ability and sportsmanship.

GOLF—TENNIS

Tennis 3rd in Conference:

Two sports which have a "carry-over" value throughout life are tennis and golf. Coach Paul Adams had a large spring turn-out of 23 girls and 12 boys from which to select his tennis teams. Although the majority of the players were under-classmen, the top boys' and girls' double teams graduated. A 3rd place in the Metro Conference ended a season identified by keen competition.

Golf provided the opportunity to develop good form during the frequent practice periods on local courses under Mr. Lynn Hardy's expert tutelage. Although Boone lost its only match against Edgewater, three team members polished their drive, chip shots and putting sufficiently to finish 39, 40, and 42 for 9 holes. Golfing enthusiasts found many worthwhile experiences resulting from participation as members of Boone's team.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Leadership Sets Pattern For Students' Activities

Another year of air-conditioned comfort in the cafeteria was made possible by the invaluable work of the Student Council. Through the efforts of the House of Representatives, composed of delegates elected from homerooms, and the Senate comprised of the presidents of all school organizations, the Student Council exerted a tremendous influence on student affairs.

Encouraged by sponsors, Mrs. Alice H. Leamon and Mr. Vahan K. Magarian, the Student Council planned and directed many programs. The perennial favorite, Beauty and the Beast, was particularly enjoyable this year, as the theme was educational in scope.

The Council opened the year with Howdy Week, which provided an opportunity for the new sophomores to get acquainted with upper-classmen, and was climaxed by a gay Howdy Dance. The year ended with another sponsored event, the sale of plots in the seniors' sidewalk: concrete squares which were imprinted with the departing message or advice of graduates who shared care-free school days at Boone.

ANN BRUCE TRI-HI-Y

Stage "Dog Patch USA"; Lend Service to School

"Dog Patch, U.S.A.," complete with life-size pictures of L'il Abner, Daisy Mae and other characters of that famous town, was brought to life by the Ann Bruce Tri-Hi-Y, at a gay Sadie Hawkins Day fling in the gym. In accordance with commandments of Twirp Week, girls accepted financial responsibilities and transportation arrangements for the entire evening. Proceeds helped swell the coffers of the annual Junior-Senior Prom.

As enumerated in the platform laws, members of Ann Bruce Tri-Hi-Y worked together to "create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school and community, high standards of Christian character." Traveling to Sarasota for the South Florida Conference, a representative number of girls met with other Hi-Y's and Tri-Hi-Y's, listening to ideas and exchanging suggestions for improvement of organizational procedures. Youth and Government delegates to Tallahassee took a bill to place before legislature and a nominee for Governor.

Desiring to serve others strengthened the members' character as they shared rewarding moments at Sunland Training Center. Holidays gained added meaning as toys and candy were gifted at Christmas-time, and baskets were filled for the afflicted children at Easter.

In conjunction with plans for the year, Miss Glenda Templeton supervised bi-monthly club meetings and activities, supporting and encouraging the development and extension of Christian ideals.

HI-Y

Emphasizes Service to Home, School, Community

Stressing service to home, school and community, Hi-Y, guided by sponsor, Mrs. James H. Baynes, added another successful year of achievement to their impressive record. Assisting the Salvation Army, selling Christmas-tree tickets for the Optimists, collecting for ALSAC and March of Dimes, and aiding voters on a wet election day, were a sampling of their accomplishments.

With the encouragement and co-operation of Student Council, the Hi-Y and Interact declared this year to be "spirit year" and did much to support it. Participating in the Edgewater pep rally, members staged an Eagle-scalping skit complete with masked headsman and red buzzard. The rousing festivities of the traditional pigskin battle were climaxed by retention by Boone of "Bragle," the half-Brave, half-Eagle creation of the respective schools' Hi-Y's.

Meetings were well attended, as was the week's convention in August at the Blueridge camp in North Carolina for Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y. Representing Boone at the South Florida conference in Sarasota, Donald Walker was elected president, and at the State convention, Robert Williams was chosen doorkeeper of the House.

In recognition of their efforts, the James H. Baynes Chapter of Hi-Y received the Red Triangle award for '64.

ASSISTING Rev. and Mrs. Rudloff from car on wet election day are helpful students, Ronnie Blackburn and Gary Sene. By lending helping hand to voters in Precinct 22, Hi-Y provided a useful and efficient service to community and school.

DURING impressive induction ceremony at church chapel, Mark Alexander's candle is lighted by President, Jay Turnipseed.

DILIGENT gardeners, Lee Alexander, Jim Manuel, Bob Wattle, Ben Brock, Ken Thigpen, and David Glaze, plant new grass in club plot at side of auditorium. This represented brief part of school-wide campaign for beautification of Boone's campus.

Employ Motto "Just Call On Us" to Serve School

"Just call on us," was well-known motto of Ruth Mier Tri-Hi-Y. Whether the job was making curtains for various classrooms, sponsoring Help-Clean-Boone's Campus week, selling pep badges, or collecting toys for contribution to the "Toys-for-Tots" drive, the girls were anxious and willing to be of service. At the bonfire, Ruth Miers gleefully roasted Edgewater's eagle, and at pep rallies and other school functions displayed outstanding spirit.

Guided by Mrs. Jacqueline Eikner and Miss Faye Baker, club members achieved many goals. Favorites among their many projects were services to the Primrose School for mentally retarded children and the Barrington Terrace Nursing Home. The former was, as in previous years, undertaken through the "big sister" program, while the latter constituted a plan of visitation and service.

Whatever the task, serious or frivolous, members constantly strove "to create, maintain, and extend, throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian character."

LORENA HENDRY TRI-HI-Y

"Sports" Litter Bags for Boone's Clean-up Drive

Recognition was given to new branch of YMCA youth activities this year with the formation of Lorena Hendry Chapter of Tri-Hi-Y. Designed to recognize and develop Christian qualities, the club encouraged its members to work industriously to reach the high standards set for them. With the support and guidance of Miss Glenda Templeton, the organization performed various duties and impressed others through service to "Home, school, and community."

Work was not an uncommon word to Lorena Hendry seniors. Making "pinnies" for Gray-Y youngsters, selling poppies for Veterans of Foreign Wars, sponsoring a car wash and bake sale, occupied many rewarding hours.

Combining dedicated service with Christian fun, members attended the South Florida Hi-Y, Tri-Hi-Y convention in Sarasota, and sponsored two delegates to Youth in Government held in Tallahassee. A banquet, given to honor members for "jobs well done," rounded out a year of satisfying activities.

KEY CLUB

Benefit Community and School Through Service

Key Club is a junior edition of world-famous Kiwanis International. Emulating the excellent example of its parent, this active group of young men strove to better school and community alike.

By working at the Red Cross Chapter House and Primrose School for retarded children, the boys spent excitement-packed hours in the service of others. During Thanksgiving-time, members collected food for needy families, while the holiday season prompted the giving of a party at the Parental Home. Christmas was also observed by a "Toys for Tots" drive, which merited enthusiastic commendation from the Marine Corps.

School projects were actively supported by this busy and versatile group. Members sold season football tickets and sponsored a "Mystery Brave" contest, whereby the winning student received a season pass. The baseball team was another recipient of their work and enjoyed using freshly-painted dugouts. Socially, they contributed to the success of the Howdy Dance in planning the clever decorations for this introductory event of the school year.

INTERACT

Members Fulfill Motto of "Youth serves Youth"

Devoting unselfish hours of service to school and community, and sharing fun-filled months of comradeship, Interact members displayed their versatility. New members were recruited during an active week when pledges performed various tasks needed to build up points.

Throughout the term, services were performed for the school, from a hilarious skit in the Beauty and Beast Contest to re-painting lines and numbers in the senior parking lot. Under the sponsorship of the Rotary Club, and the supervision of Coach James E. Heise, members contributed to the fund for glass backboards donated for gym classes. Their treasury was lightened by the purchase of a pitching machine presented to the Athletic Department for use by the baseball team. As an annual community project, grounds at Primrose School were maintained in attractive condition.

This group of energetic and spirited young men have contributed greatly to their school, and having "Youth Serves Youth" for an inspirational motto they moved through a year of successful activities.

CIVITAN

Scrub, Paint, and Polish: Donate Funds to Charity

Trash barrels for schooltime "litter bugs" have been repainted sunburst orange and chalk white by members of the industrious Civitan Club. Working on Saturday afternoons provided an opportunity for members to earn additional points by painting barrels and benches in bright school colors and by scrubbing the Boone Brave adorning the gymnasium.

Polished trophies, a clean gym after the Heart Hop, a new orange border on the sparkling clean bulletin-board, stood in mute evidence to Civitan's constructive energy.

Selling fruitcakes is an annual Christmas project of the club. This year's proceeds were donated to Primrose School, the Cerebral Palsy fund, and Sunland Training Center, to be used for the purchase of critically needed equipment.

Sponsored by the Orlando parent group, and Mr. James Evans, each member's daily life in service to school and community reflected the Civitan motto "Builders of Good Citizenship."

MONITORS

Develop Responsibility

Maintaining a minimum of traffic in the corridors before school and during lunch shifts, besides directing the congestion after school, is the job of monitors in attempting to facilitate school activities.

A staff of thirty students compose the group under the direction of Mr. Richard Jolley. Monitors helped prevent classmates from wandering unnecessarily about campus and halls during the school day. Duties were extended to helping the fire marshalls during drills and "bomb scares." Though the performance of such tasks, students developed self-discipline, resourcefulness, and leadership.

In recognition of such efforts, members were honored at the annual picnic, and on Awards Day received a letter of appreciation from the principal, Mr. Charles Terry, on behalf of the administration.

BOOKSTORE

Christened Trading Post

Boone celebrated a christening: The bookstore—nameless for years—received the cognomen, Trading Post. Although many Braves proposed this worthy title, fate designated Connie Wilson to be the official donor.

Continuing to provide faculty and students with unusual and practical needs in stationery and sundry articles, the Trading Post prospered. Not content with fulfilling such mundane requirements, Mr. George Sowers and his capable aides managed a lost-and-found department, a mecca for wayward books and clothing redeemable for a nominal fee. The Boone Legend likewise benefitted from the cooperation of the Trading Post in the sale of plastic covers for the "new" annual.

Periodically, Mr. Sowers awarded a bonus to the top salesman of the month—a student, who by effort and superior sales ability, merited such distinctive honor.

SAFETY CLUB

Pupils Share Safety Aims

"A careful driver is a good driver." This slogan, advocated by the Safety Club under the expert guidance of Mr. L. Stith, well applies to drivers of all types of vehicles. Members endeavored to create an awareness of the dual responsibility of students and adults in preventing accidents. Publicizing the hazards of unsafe vehicles and incompetent drivers has admittedly lowered the national accident rate and protected thousands of lives annually.

Safety Club members concentrated on informing peer groups of their role in avoiding automobile tragedies. Safety-checks were held periodically, providing students with the opportunity of locating and repairing mechanical defects. Other activities included the showing of films, demonstrating the costly results of non-observance of traffic regulations, mal-functioning of vehicles, and simple lack of road courtesy.

Some club members made radio and television broadcasts; others posted exhibits at strategic campus locations, showing changes in Florida automobile law.

LIBRARY CLUB

Aids Personnel, Students

Providing conscientious assistance to the school personnel, members of the Library Club acquired knowledge of procedure and useful techniques in library operation. Shelving books, working at the checking desk, and shel-lacking book jackets represented few of the duties essential to adequate maintenance. Assistants were also helpful to students of research, instructing them in the proper use of the Readers' Guide and procuring out-of-date issues of magazines.

Selling orange-and-white book covers, and pocket editions of classical and modern books, members used their time to good advantage. Funds realized from these projects were reserved for enlarging the library, which is critically over-crowded. Club sponsors, Miss Ina Taylor and Miss Nancy Lewis, are confident the dream of expanding this "concentrated center of knowledge" will become an imminent reality.

'NEW TRAFFIC law's' poster is viewed with marked interest by Safety Club members, Vicki King, Bob Stonerock, Craig Wine-land, and Carol Pluchino. This list was compiled at a Safety Club project to warn students of the newly-passed ordinances

CAMPUS CRUSADERS

Gain Knowledge of Faith

"One nation, under God, indivisible. . ." This was the goal of Campus Crusader members. Weekly devotional meetings gave intellectual and spiritual stimulation through inspiring discussion and participation in Bible quizzes. Skillful use of the Bible, not only enabled members to excel in local and state competition, but also to gain a deeper understanding and appreciation of their respective Christian faiths. The Bible quiz team, representing the Orlando All-Star entry, sent a delegate to the state tournament and another to the national contest held in Indiana.

Sponsored by Mrs. Eleanor Kenyon, members strove to promote Christian living and develop leadership—meanwhile enjoying good fellowship. Putting beliefs into practice, members departed from Boone advocating a democratic life "with liberty and justice for all."

ORATORICAL SOCIETY

Promotes Speaking Skill

Those realizing the immense importance of being able to speak fluently and forcefully have found the Oratorical Society a suitable testing ground. Through competition in tournaments sponsored by forensic leagues and service organizations, student orators received many coveted honors while developing correct speaking techniques, which will be useful throughout the years in the many varied careers they plan to enter.

Reinstatement of membership in the National Forensic League, obtained through the earning of 1,000 points, was the immediate goal of club members. These points are attained through participation in oratorical declamation, extemporaneous speaking, radio-announcing, monologues, the most important, debate. Their zealous sponsor, Mrs. Eleanor Kenyon, is confident that with hard work and enthusiasm, this worthwhile undertaking will be accomplished.

FUTURE FARMERS

Practice Understanding of Farming Techniques

Under the energetic direction of Mr. Robert Ford, FFA is generally considered the most active organization on campus. Members are confirmed conference trotters, being represented at the County Federation, in numerous District contests, and at the State convention at Daytona Beach. Delegates also attended the State Forestry School at Camp O'Leno and the National convention in Kansas City, Missouri. Livestock judging at Sumter County All-Breeders, Southeastern Livestock in Ocala, and the State Fair at Tampa, occupied other students. Nor were sports overlooked, as members participated in the County FFA basketball tournament.

Boone's campus was irrigated by the installation of sprinkler systems. Members planted hedges, installed posts, maintained a laboratory citrus grove, and arranged for the sale of produce. Students also participated in a land-capability judging contest with County 4-H members, and in Farm-City Week activities in which they submitted an exhibit featuring FFA and vocational-agricultural pursuits.

Insure Better Careers

Monthly meetings of the Future Secretaries of America were devoted to guest speakers and panel discussions of job requirements, applications, and personality requisites. A career Day was observed by visits to major Orlando corporations, during which the girls viewed company operations and attended a luncheon.

Club sponsor, Mrs. Elisabeth Tankler, encouraged fund-raising projects, including a profitable doughnut sale to raise funds to assist a needy child at Easter.

GREGG WRITERS

Voodoo Dolls Hex Rivals

"Black magic" was briefly invoked by Gregg Writers who sold voo-doo dolls prior to the Boone-Edgewater game.

Founded by Mrs. Elisabeth Tankler at Orlando High in 1948, Boone inherited an organization firmly rooted in significant objects. Gregg Writers practiced vocational skills and assisted the administrative personnel. These activities ended with a banquet, which initiated new members and bid "adieu" to old members, who had maintained so well the club's high standards.

FTA

Learn from Tutoring; Participate in Workshop

Blankner Elementary School provided a suitable laboratory for students contemplating an educational career. It furnished a valuable opportunity to acquire practical experience by participation in actual classroom incidents. At this workshop, wherein the complexities of teaching were examined at first-hand, members readily identified the vital role of student-teacher rapport. Newly-acquired skills were utilized by service as assistants to teachers and tutors to fellow-classmen, who equally benefitted from the experience.

Proceeds from the scholarship fund were made available to a graduate entering teaching as a profession. This assistance was provided from monies acquired from brownie sales, and the selling of gaily-decorated, orange and white beach towels bearing Braves' insignia.

The FTA convention in November provided an exciting experience for attending chapter members, when one of the delegates was nominated for State office. Accompanying this energetic group to Sarasota was their sponsor, Miss Rosemary McGlinchy. FTA membership expands yearly, since an increasing number of college-bound students select teaching as their future vocation.

PARAMEDICS

Films, Lectures, Trips— Comprise Spirited Year

Paramedic Club comprised 64 members intent on becoming better acquainted with various phases of medicine and the requirements of a medical career. Valuable material was supplied by films and lectures by prominent authorities, such as Dr. Quentin Green, who spoke on careers and medical technology. Service at Orange Memorial Hospital and Holiday House contributed additional information, as did field trips to the medical laboratory at Gainesville University Hospital, and attendance at district and state conventions (the latter held in Clearwater) at which prominent medical teams addressed the fortunate delegates.

Among other projects were the preparing of Thanksgiving baskets, helping during community drives, the children's Christmas party at Orange Memorial, and the unforgettable trip to Sunland Training Center.

A scrapbook recording communications and activities was assembled for future reference. The year ended with a tea, at which members were commended by advisor, Mrs. Ida Zucca, for their outstanding achievements and unselfish dedication to others.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS

Use Domestic Talent for Service and Sociability

Holidays meant extra work and added pleasure to Future Homemakers of America. The advent of Christmas afforded an opportunity to members to test sewing skills in making dolls' clothes for contribution to the "Toys for Tots" campaign. Continuing to celebrate this festive season, the girls entertained at a Mothers' Tea, where their cooking ability received much praise and admiration. During Eastertide, the joy and thrill of working with crippled children were experienced when members visited the Eccleston Crippled Children's Hospital, distributing baskets of goodies and holiday greetings.

Nor was overlooked the onerous task of raising funds. The depleted FHA treasury was restocked from proceeds received from the selling of cookbooks containing the favorite recipes of the nation's homemaking teachers. To their sponsor, Mrs. Eleanor Wall, and the diligent officers, the achievements of this active and resourceful group are a well-deserved compliment.

CEC

Blend Work and Study

Under the guidance of Mrs. Elizabeth Screven, students of Co-Operative Education filled various occupations in the business world. Through specialized training in the classroom, skills were effectively developed and utilized in afternoon employment.

During the Christmas season, stockings were made for distribution by the Salvation Army, and needy families were gifted with food and toys. The eagerly-anticipated climax to the year's activities, the employer-employee banquet, was tendered in appreciation of participating business firms and in recognition of the achievements of student workers.

DECA

Establish Career Goals

Keeping in mind the purpose of the organization, DECA provided opportunities for students to broaden their concepts concerning their chosen vocations. Supervised by their sponsor, Miss Erress Arant, students embarked on field trips to Penney's and Jordan Marsh, while outstanding speakers on topics of social security and merchandising afforded them additional business insights.

Officers attended breakfasts monthly with other DECA Central Florida officials. Service activities, such as contributions to Gateway, served to unite members and create a deepened realization of their manifold blessings and responsibilities.

PAN AM

PAL Linguists Acquire Cultural Understanding

Developing mutual understanding between American students and those of Hispanic countries was the goal of Pan Am, sponsored by Mr. Harry L. Haskins.

Sparked with the vivacity indicative of Spanish culture, the meetings were enlivened by Spanish songs and games, extemporaneous talks, skits, and informative lectures by such distinguished speakers as Dr. Santiago de Herrera, headmaster of boys' academy in Yucatan, Mexico, and Dr. Charles J. Kolinski of Rollins College.

Students achieving scholastic excellence, and desiring additional practice in language, were eligible for membership. Bright-hued "PAL" ribbons were proudly worn by initiants after the tapping ceremony. Two special events concluded the year—a jubilant picnic, and an elegant banquet at renowned Las Novedades in Tampa's gay and colorful Spanish quarter.

FRENCH CLUB, FNHS

Re-create True Picture Of French Cultural Life

Creating an atmosphere colorful as France, Le Cercle Francais encouraged fun and learning at lively meetings. New members displayed enthusiasm and interest in the language by submitting as initiation projects replicas of the Eiffel tower and guillotine, and savory French bread. Members of the French national honor society received the tri-color flag upon induction, and helped fellow classmates by providing a tutoring program for their academic assistance.

Slides, souvenirs, and first-hand experiences of Mrs. Katherine Gaffey, gathered during her summer tour of France, were shared with club members, affording them a colorful, true picture of French life.

Social activities consisted of selling corsages of white chrysanthemums, tied with burnt-orange satin, to brighten the home coming weekend. Brownie sales satisfied the Braves' sweet tooth, while serving to swell the scholarship fund to sponsor the education of a deserving student of French. The semester closed with a banquet at the Chez Aline, a delightful restaurant reminiscent of the atmosphere and cuisine of "gay Parée."

GERMAN CLUB

Lingual Ability Stressed

During the semi-annual pledge week, signs stating: "Ich bin ein neues Mitglied der deutschen Gesellschaft" were worn by certain German students on campus. Translated, the signs read: "I am a new member of the German Club." Pledges addressed old members exclusively in German, until pledging ended with an entertaining initiation ceremony. Under the leadership of Frau Margritt Engel, interested members were given the opportunity of acquiring knowledge of German life and culture.

Dieter Kretschmer, a German exchange student, spoke at the Christmas party held during the first semester. He recaptured events from his life in Germany before relating first impressions of his arrival in Florida.

During the second semester, a German film was shown, and a dinner was held at the Hofbrauhaus, a restaurant reminiscent of old German atmosphere.

LATIN CLUB

Revives Roman Classics

"It's the purpose of the Latin Club to maintain high standards of scholarship in the Latin Department, to stimulate the interests of the students in the study of Roman culture, and to assist in securing and maintaining adequate equipment for the needs of the Latin Department." This excerpt from the constitution is literally adopted by members, endeavoring to uphold code.

Although Caesar and his Empire no longer exist, they endure through language; Latin Club members keep alive the ancient spirit and culture. Directed by Mrs. Nobie Simpson, monthly meetings were high-lighted by skits depicting Roman civilization, terminating at year's end with the festive Roman banquet. Students achieving top quartile scores in the Latin national competitive examination were excused from finals, and honored by receiving certificates of scholarship on Awards Day, at year's close.

THESPIANS

Learn Fundamentals of Stage, Make-up, Lighting

"Act well your part; there all the honor lies." Adopting this motto seriously, members of National Thespian Society worked earnestly to use their dramatic talent. Participation in various phases of theatre arts—direction, lighting, stagecraft, costuming, make-up, and acting—provided necessary points for club membership. Developing individual ability, members presented "Cinderella", a children's theatre production, which helped Troupe 177 retain active membership in the parent organization.

Accompanied by sponsor, Miss Faye Johns, Thespians attended a district conference in Jacksonville. There they presented monologues and dramatic readings and "Treasury of the Theatre", comprised of excerpts from great works—Greek to modern-day drama—linked by a running narrative. A repeat showing was given for the benefit of the PTA and the English Department, resulting in a heightened appreciation of this area.

ART CLUB

Decorates Campus While Exhibiting Varied Talents

Membership was available, not only to those actively enrolled in art classes, but to all interested in any phase of this creative subject. Monthly meetings were informal, with students receiving the guidance of Mrs. Joan Bryant in their exploration of the unlimited application of art to creative pursuits.

Members produced eye-catching signs for the Optimist Club, illustrating to the community projects benefiting from the sale of Christmas trees. Mats for the display of entries in the Winter Park Arts Festival were provided by club members, as were advertising media to school organizations upon request.

1964 Color Day was imperishably preserved, with the placing in the gymnasium of the 20-foot weirdly carved and decorated totem pole, symbolic of the "spirit year of '64." Art Club members entered paintings, sculptures, sketches, and other art forms in area festivals, and discovered new horizons in trips to galleries and art museums.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Sponsors Excellence in Journalistic Endeavors

An international honor society for budding journalists, Quill and Scroll inducted new members during the second semester in an impressive candlelight ceremony. Juniors and seniors ranking in the top third of the class, excelling in some phase of yearbook or newspaper production and nominated by their respective sponsors, Mrs. Mary Raddy or Mr. William Cochennour, were eligible for membership.

In April, Boone's delegates were guests at a breakfast in the Cherry Plaza Hotel, while attending an annual convention held in conjunction with the Florida Scholastic Press Association. This social event offered an opportunity to exchange journalistic opinions with hundreds of other high school students and instructors throughout the state.

During the academic year, literary interest was maintained at a high level through articles appearing in Quill and Scroll magazine, published exclusively for members. Notice of journalism contests and current professional material provided informative and worthwhile reading. Perhaps most gratifying to members was the recognition and esteem in which they are held throughout the world of the press.

RIFLE CLUB

Aims for Sportsmanship, Marksmanship, Safety

Promoting sportsmanship, interest in, and safety with firearms, Rifle Club members strove to improve their accuracy and skill during weekly sessions at the Central Florida range. In ordinary rifle meets, entrance was based on the class to which members qualified by reason of ability and experience. State sectionals differed in that contestants were required to shoot from four positions: prone, standing, sitting, and kneeling. Progress was recognized through awards bestowed by the National Rifle Association, ranging in rank from Marksman to Distinguished Rifleman.

The ability to hit targets smaller than a .22-calibre bullet, combined with the opportunity of working under direction of Mr. Ralph Naleway, constituted a source of satisfaction and achievement to members. At year's end, deserving riflemen received the coveted Varsity letter for outstanding performance. Money for the purchase of ammunition and targets, payment of range rental and tournament fees was obtained from the sale of candy to loyal supporters.

HONOR SOCIETY

With Pride and Faith Upholds Four-Star Standards

Anticipation filled the air as students and faculty assembled in the auditorium to witness the induction of members in the National Honor Society. Speeches adapted from quotations of illustrious American presidents explained the significance of the program to the audience, and the qualities required of candidates for such signal honor: Character, leadership, scholarship, and service.

After full-fledged members tapped the candidates, a resplendent candle-lighting ceremony followed, wherein newly-professed members participated in the passing of the sacred flame of the torch, meaningful symbol of the society, and pledged to uphold their exalted code.

Directed by Mr. John Miller, the year's activities contributed to the development of the requisite character traits. Two worthwhile projects were the tutoring of classmates in academic subjects and the selling of student directories to bolster the society's treasury. Boone's chapter of this national organization finished the year, proudly passing the torch of excellence.

TORCH SOCIETY

Boone's Chamber of Commerce Greet New Pupils

Welcoming new students by instructing them in school practices and traditions, Torch Society members served as a Boone Chamber of Commerce throughout the year. Individual members were assigned to new students with the duty of familiarizing them with the campus and introducing them to fellow classmates.

In order to be eligible for membership in Torch Society, students must have achieved a scholastic average of "B" and showed willingness to work. Exemplifying this desire to serve was a newly inaugurated plan, whereby members donated approximately 130 hours' work, directed to aiding and improving the school.

PEP CLUB

Burns Edgewater Eagle, Journeys to Gainesville

Student support constitutes an important part of the school athletic program. Cheering the teams on to victory and promoting school spirit are the main purposes of the Pep Club. Besides planning the traditional bonfire, on the eve of the football game with Edgewater, club members also planned unusual skits and programs for pep rallies, and sold shakers, which added bursts of orange-and-white color throughout the cheering section. For several distant games, busses were chartered and filled to capacity by spirited students.

Directed by Miss Nancy Lewis, the Pep Club, the largest organization in the school, proclaimed this to be "spirit year." Any student desiring to increase Boone's Spirit and support extra-curricular activities is eligible for membership.

Sitting in a special reserved section, and inspired by rhythmic calls of cheerleaders, Pep Club members responded long and loud, following each thrilling moment. Students and faculty alike agreed that the efforts of Pep Club helped raise Boone's spirit to new heights.

VARSITY CLUB

Lettermen Strive to Aid School, Club, by Service

Boone's spirit is unquenchable! It exists in the enthusiasm displayed by participants in sports. The Varsity Club, sponsored by Coach Ivan Repass, represents the organized effort of members to apply their energy, talent, and loyalty to enrich all possible areas of student activity.

Catering to fans attending basketball games, Varsity Club sponsored a refreshment stand, where snow-cones, popcorn, drinks, and candy were available. During the football season, selling programs to aid fans in quick identification of players provided another lucrative project.

Two varsity squads furnished spirited competition in the annual Orange vs. White spring football classic. Proceeds from this entertaining sports event were contributed to the lettermen's fund to buy letter sweaters for varsity players.

The year's events closed with the Athletic Banquet. Letter sweaters were presented to members in recognition of their valuable contribution to Boone's sports program. Following the awards, a guest speaker praised the Varsity men for their accomplishments and encouraged them to undertake future activities of equal merit.

Boost "Spirit Year-'64"

"Spirit Year-'64!" The major goal was the encouragement of the students to display greater enthusiasm and sportsmanship in supporting Boone's athletic events. Led by twenty vivacious cheerleaders, fans readily responded to cheers during pep rallies and the season's football and basketball games.

Cheerleaders sold tickets to games and procured advertisements for the souvenir programs they distributed. Game days were sparked by their colorful uniforms, indefatigable spirit, and the unfailing plea—"Come out and back the Braves!"

ADULTS

Contribute To Smooth-Operating School System

A school is a business which must be kept in good repair to function at fullest capacity. Few students realize the importance of the custodians in maintaining a smoothly-operating school. Constantly alert to discover defects needing improvement, this group labored unselfishly and untiringly to service and keep beautiful Boone's buildings and campus

Striving to develop optimum cooperation among parents, teachers, and students, the PTA sponsored many worth-while programs. Interested in the welfare of the school, it aimed to solve specific needs economically and efficiently

The cafeteria personnel, ably directed by Mrs. Barbara Chapman, had the complicated task of providing proper nourishment for 2,100 hungry teachers and students every day. Balanced meals, tastefully and appetizingly prepared, were served at thrifty prices

SENIORS:

Accept Responsibilities and Promote Citizenship

"Rank hath its privileges." To each of Boone's 551 seniors, this has meant a special reserved section at football games; a senior lunch-line, parking-lot, and sidewalk; and an extra five minutes' lunch period preceding holidays. During pep rallies, the seniors challenged lower-classmen to highly-spirited contests of school loyalty. The year's activities formed a happy pattern of work and gaiety. Event followed event 'til the bitter-sweet enchantment of the Junior-Senior Prom heralded the final senior party and commencement.

"Rank hath its responsibilities." No senior hesitated to assume that exacting role of leadership and trust expected by under-classmen of those of such "high estate." Seniors fulfilled their responsibility to the community, devoting much energy and hard work to supporting civic projects. Sports and clubs also afforded gratifying projects to complement the well-organized school curriculum. Always foremost, however, was their hope of becoming finer men and women and, ultimately, assuming the vital role of builders of a better world.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS. Nancy Welch, secretary; Tom Wampler, president; Mike Hall, vice president; and Sims Kline, treasurer, have an inspection of the class flag before mounting it atop the shiso for exhibition at school-sponsored activities.

RAGGEDY ANDY and Raggedy Ann, alias Ed Irby and Karen Kelly, play "slide down the pole" during traditional Color Day.

IN THE MIDDLE of the snowman, the snowman's head is the only one that is not made of snow. It is the only one that is not made of snow.

to the thought of home. For several years, the snowman has been one of the favorite traditions of the graduating seniors.

NEWEST FAD, baby-style smocked dresses, is the subject of the conversation between juniors, C. Hardy and P. Rountree

JUNIORS:

Outstanding Scholarship, Service, School Support

Juniors straddled the fence. No longer tagged with the label, "Baby Braves," still they were ineligible for the distinctive privileges reserved for seniors. New electives posed challenges, creating a keen awareness of today's problems, while satiating—at least, temporarily—their thirst for knowledge.

The wearing of class rings symbolized the new status and linked them irrevocably as a class. Under the competent guidance of their sponsors, Mrs. Rissmiller and Mr. Nelson, they proudly and confidently undertook the year's projects. The collection of filter-bands helped immeasurably in supplying needed funds. Feverishly, they prepared for their first sponsored social event, the Homecoming Dance, decorating the Boone gym suitably for the reception of royalty.

Nor were academic or club activities neglected, as the Class of '65 achieved high scores on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test and were elected to membership in the National Honor Society and language and journalism affiliates. Juniors also entered into the throes of researching and composing their junior theme—a never-to-be-forgotten ordeal. Drama, cheerleading, music, art, and community projects attracted their interest and furnished rewarding experiences.

Finally, the middle year ended with the juniors hosting the seniors at the traditional Prom, followed by their "ushering" the upper-classmen through the solemn Baccalaureate services into graduation, thus anticipating by one short year their own Commencement!

ROYALTY CORONATION — The Junior Prom Queen, given a "touch of royalty" by Stan Wafmath, Pam Thompson.

W. CHEERLEADERS CORONATION — Sue McQuar and Jeanne Moore, join Varsity cheerleaders at a pep rally.

JUDGES' VERDICT — Mrs. Faye Baker, Mrs. Elaine Gamble, and Mrs. G. H. Gamble, lights the juniors victorious at a pep rally, after having been awarded points for cheering the loudest and most enthusiastically in a contest of rivalry.

JUNIOR YEAR — The Dean of Boys, Mr. James Baynes, advises the Dean of Boys, Mr. James Baynes, to Donald Walker.

The school ship — The school ship is a ship that each year to seek scholarships to the schools of their choice

SOPHOMORES

Assume New Allegiance

Senior high school—not merely a location, but a state of being, a condition of mind, anticipated with delight and anxiety! During September, 792 sophomores entered Boone's doors eagerly, yet a bit apprehensively, not sure of what the next three years would portend. Their first week of excitement and confusion closed with the Howdy Dance; entering students received a sincere welcome, and the Class of 1966 was triumphantly launched.

Guided by the experience and enthusiasm of sponsor, Miss Rosemary McGlinchy, the sophomores' first task was the election of officers. The job of getting acquainted with their new environment followed. Library orientation was succeeded by fund-raising activities—selling decals, Alma Mater scripts, and Brave autograph dolls.

Many hours of planning, committee meetings, and advertising were devoted to ensuring the success of the exciting class-sponsored social event, the Heart Hop. Of more enduring consequence, sophomores became better students, better citizens, prepared for the abundant, vital years yet to come.

SPONSORS. Miss Rosemary McGlinchy and Mrs. Virginia Brown, instruct sophomores, Barbara Redditt and Patricia

BLASE A. Delliventri, P. Burns, and L. Cuthill stroll casually to class as slave, C. Rinehart, performs Twirp Week chore.

Reggia, in effective sales techniques for selling decals and Alma Mater lyric sheets to promote school spirit and boost class funds.

SLFK, startling lines of a faculty member's new sports car provide an exciting topic of conversation for gregarious sophomore officers—Pam Chiles, secretary; Beth Anderson, vice-president; Marilyn Dysart, treasurer; Cheryl Donnell, president

FIRST FEDERAL

Linda Brewton, John Barnett, Jim Robertson, Mrs. Leah Wade

Americans are setting "firsts" in almost every field imaginable. Experimentation with the atom and space is no longer beyond the imagination. Even with our ever-expanding discovery and progress, a sense of security and well-being is essential.

You may feel confident if your savings are deposited at First Federal Savings & Loan, where "firsts" are accepted facts. A genuine concern for the customer, conference facilities for educational and civic functions, and consultation services are only a few of the "red carpet" extras offered by this forward-looking institution.

LIGGETT DRUG COMPANY, INC.

Over seven hundred million drug prescriptions are filled annually; about fifteen million pounds of aspirin are also sold. Liggett-Rexall has dealt with more than its share of these, and other medicinal products. Liggett-Rexall is respected and trusted because of its superb service to Central Floridians, not only for the best prescription center available, but also for its complete line of quality merchandise and friendly service.

"Mr. Watson, come here! I want you." These historic words were spoken by Alexander Graham Bell in a hot attic in 1876

This first telephone message traveled only from room to room. Today, through the facilities of the Southern Bell Telephone Company, we may communicate across town, across the continent or across the ocean. Southern Bell's modern, convenient, and personal services are valued by thousands of subscribers. The telephone is an essential tool in today's complex society. Call today—the Southern Bell way!

What could one possibly say about Barq's Cola that it does not already say for itself? Barq's quality is obvious. With the first taste of its crisp, tangy, tantalizing flavor, you know Barq's is great. Barq's line of thirst-quenchers includes Topp-Cola, Barq's Grape, and Orange. All are delicious, all the finest available. Try one for yourself—let Barq's convince you!

THE FLOWER KING

A lovely Spanish legend depicts the origin of flowers, relating that when the world was created, all of the angels appeared on the rainbow to view God's work. The rainbow shattered, and its glistening fragments fell to earth, forming flowers.

If this be so, that proverbial "pot of gold" must have landed at Flower King. By unending patience, Flower King has chosen an innumerable array of exquisite flowers to form awe-inspiring, breath-taking corsages, bouquets, and floral arrangements of sheer and delicate loveliness.

All progress that has been made reflects directly on man's ability to express his thoughts. The world is joined by a vast system of verbal communication, creating a common bond among nations. This sharing of knowledge, opinion, and new ideas was encouraged and augmented as printing evolved from its inception to present-day growth and development.

In 1454, when Gutenberg invented the infant printing press, he likewise founded the tradition of quality for printers of today. Foote & Davies have contributed to that tradition by producing books recognized for superior workmanship, accuracy, good taste, and technical perfection. In this manner, they have stamped an imperishable imprint on the growth of knowledge and progress—a guidepost for scholars and wisemen of the future!

Bear,
It's been a lot of fun knowing you this year. I think you have a great personality.
Work hard towards our "State Championship" next year. Best of luck always.

Billy Bear Baby,

All I've got to say is you're great,
I love you deeply, and I'll miss you painfully -

Never forget
Jennie Payne

Bill,
It has really been a pleasure knowing you this year. You are truly a great guy who deserves the best of everything.
I hope I can see you this summer and next year.

Billy Base,

I don't know how I would have survived this year if it hadn't been for good friends like you. You know that you owe me about $10.00 for all of my trouble. But I guess we'll just even it out. Not everyone who is ambushed and mutilated everyday, it's a great privilege. Sincerely Billy you are really the most wonderful and understanding boy I have ever met. No lie! If you don't come and see me at A.S.C. I shall be sorely vexed! I know you can't stay away long because you'll miss me and my G.H.S. kids have so much. I know you're going to be the top man around here next year because of your great talents in sports, working, ambushing, and so on. With all that, like I said how could you help but that? Well I had better stop now before it gets too late. I am going to miss you with you!

Billy,
Great & sure for all through high all the arch in year.

We've really had some good times in Plane Geometry this year.

You're a real Great Guy even though you are a PAIN sometimes.

I want to wish you the best of luck always and I hope we see each other some <sup>or</sup> this summer.

PS

Thanks for

William,
It has been a real pleasure being class with you and all were not in it the same geometry class probably would have flunked next year. Good Luck

Good Luck
